دلایل:

پاراگراف دوم – بسط دلایل

۱- مصرف بیشتر

۲- عدم توجه به بازیافت

One of the causes of producing more and more trash is that people consume everything more than before. In other words, more consumption means more rubbish. When you use something, there are wrappers, plastic bags, nylon, packages and other things that should go to the rubbish bin. Furthermore, people do not pay attention to recycling and do not separate different parts of their garbage. For example, in my country, there are no recycle bins, and everything becomes garbage after consumption because people do not have any other choices.

راه حل ها:

پاراگراف سوم – بسط راه حل ها

۱- آموزش مردم برای مصرف کمتر

۲- سیاست گذاری روی تولید موادی که بازیافت می شوند

On the other hand, there are some solutions. First of all, governments can teach people to decrease their consumption through media and educational programs. As a result, there will be less trash. Moreover, Governments can create some policies about the production of recyclable materials and encourage producers to produce them. For instance, there is a factory near my house that produces recyclable shopping bags and sells it to supermarkets. It is a great product because after we use it, we put it in the recycle bin, and it can be used again and again in different forms without producing any rubbish.

In conclusion, some factors can cause producing more and more trash. However, there are some ways to control and resolve this issue.

These days, people are creating a lot of garbage in many countries all around the world. This issue has some causes. However, there are some ways to solve it. I will discuss the causes and solutions in this essay.

One of the causes of producing more and more trash is that people consume everything more than before. In other words, more consumption means more rubbish. When you use something, there are wrappers, plastic bags, nylon, packages and other things that should go to the rubbish bin. Furthermore, people do not pay attention to recycling and do not separate different parts of their garbage. For example, in my country, there are no recycle bins, and everything becomes garbage after consumption because people do not have any other choices.

On the other hand, there are some solutions. First of all, governments can teach people to decrease their consumption through media and educational programs. As a result, there will be less trash. Moreover, Governments can create some policies about the production of recyclable materials and encourage producers to produce them. For instance, there is a factory near my house that produces recyclable shopping bags and sells it to supermarkets. It is a great product because after we use it, we put it in the recycle bin, and it can be used again and again in different forms without producing any rubbish.

In conclusion, some factors can cause producing more and more trash. However, there are some ways to control and resolve this issue. →
